Foreword

Hark, Seniors!

Our voyage is almost over. Four years ago we set sail in a red and white ship—"Knowledge."

Captain Ralston and his two mates, Officer McCracken and Officer Wagoner have guided us to the land of Opportunity. After a short voyage of uncertainty, we left the boat and traveled up the path of expectancy. At the end of the path stood a peculiar house resembling a book. We walked through the door into the room beyond. A very old gentleman greeted us. He told us that he was Father Time. Father Time led us into a very large room. He pointed out to us a man with a great many people surrounding him. "This man," our guide explained, "is Shakespeare, and the group surrounding him are the children of his pen."

He next brought to our attention a very massive door. Following him into the room, we witnessed a glorious sight. All the kings and queens were present amongst statesmen and ministers. Even the great and near-great in the American government were paraded before us.

So we wandered from room to room, uttering sounds of delight at some sights, sounds of dismay at others.

Soon we must leave. Once more we will board our ship. As we glance at our compass, we find our destiny to be success. Pray, Seniors, that our ship will not be blown off her course, but will safely dock on the shore of Success.

Our Principal—Stanton A. Ralston

*"Statesman, yet friend to truth, of soul sincere,
In action faithful, and in honor clear."*

● Mr. Ralston, a native of Pittsburg, Kansas, and a graduate of the Pittsburg public schools, took a two-year course at Phillips University, Enid, Oklahoma. He obtained his B. C. S. from New York University and has had two years of graduate work there.

He began teaching in Ocilla, Georgia, and for one year was principal of Ocilla High School, Georgia.

Mr. Ralston started his teaching of Commercial Work in the high schools of Newark in 1917. In 1928, he became Head of the Commercial Department. In 1933 he assumed his duties as principal of East Side High School.

We Ded

*"How dull it is to pause, to make an end,
To rust unburnished, not to shine in use."*

● To Miss Wagoner,
for her unending interest and devotion to our class, we dedicate this, "The Torch", of the Class of January 1938.

*"Fame is the spur that the clear spirit doth raise
To scorn delights and live laborious days."*

● To Mr. McCracken, for his guidance and foresight during our stay at East Side, we dedicate this, "The

JAMES A. MOLLOY

Died October 4, 1937

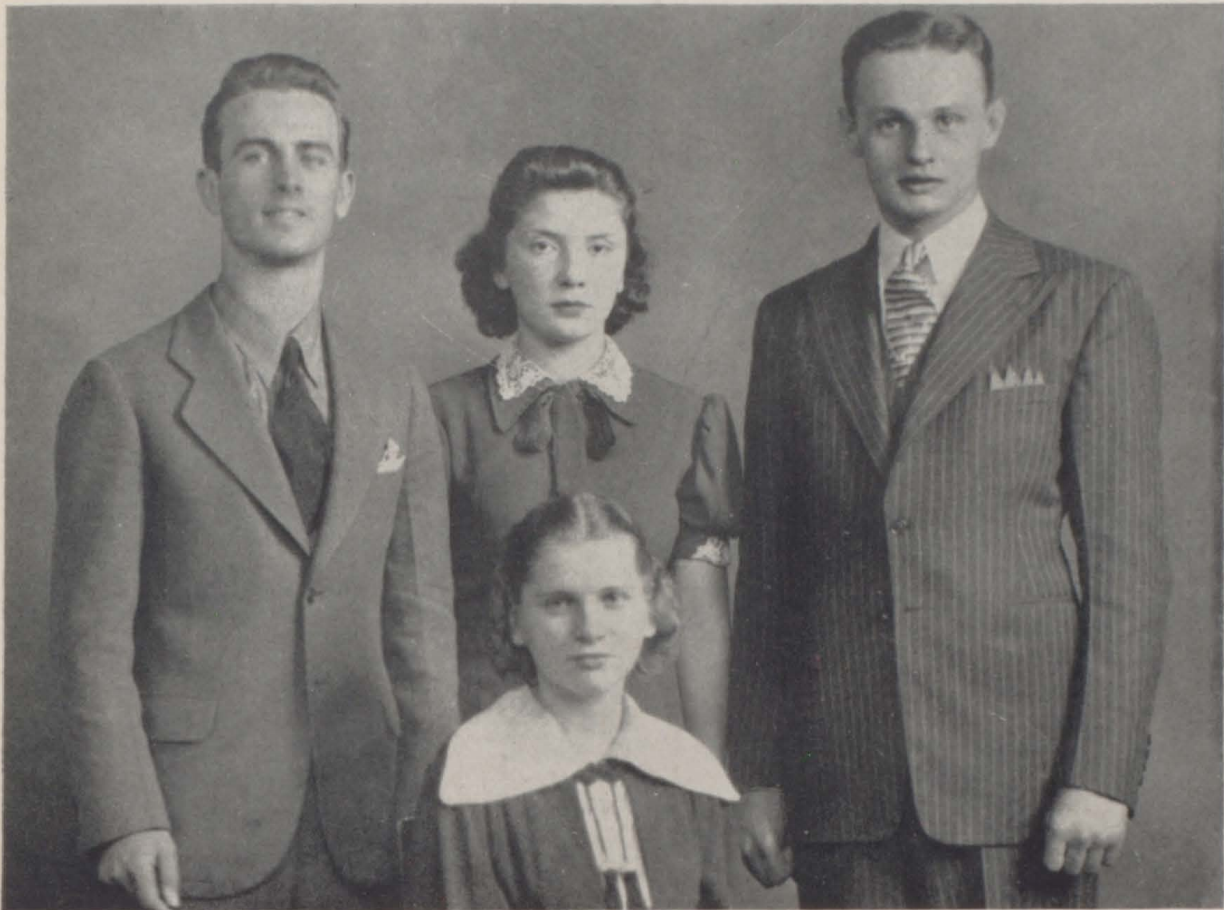

A simple, kindly gentleman—
For twenty years he was our friend and teacher.

East Side is a better school because of his influence.

Class Poem

S. S. JANUARY, '38

*We've sailed along together in the weather bright and fair,
But also in the rain and storm we've tried to do our share.
When work was done and time was free, we'd gaze up at the mast,
And truly wish within our hearts the trip would soon be past.*

*Four years ago we boarded this, our ship of high school days.
Bewildered as we stood on deck, strange faces met our gaze.
Unconsciously, amid long days, we learned to smile and grin,
But better still, we learned to know the heart that's deep within.*

*Now all too soon our trip has come abruptly to an end.
We'll part from each with smiling lips and each one as a friend.
Now must our ways be parted, and I know 'twill bring great pain,
For only as a memory will our Senior Class remain.*

DOROTHY KUBETIN.

Class Song

Tune: Anchors Aweigh.

*March, Seniors, down the field
March on to fame,
Keep all your spirits high
And you will win life's roughest game.
Put in the best you have;
This precept heed
And if you give your best,
In your chosen field you're sure to lead.*

FRESHMEN 1934

- FEB. 1—Came aboard for the first time. Marched around with our chests out. Attacked by Seniors.
- FEB. 15—Still in the fog. Can't find half of the rooms; maybe the Seniors gave us the wrong direction.
- MARCH —Sailing clear. Having trouble with Algebra.
- APRIL —Short Easter vacation—no homework for a whole week.
- MAY —Weather getting warmer. Miss Mockridge shows us beauty in a fog.
- JUNE —Started cramming for exams. Everyone passed (?). Vacation began. What a life!
- SEPT. —Eagerly returned (?) after very peaceful (?) vacation.
- OCT. —Began to realize what we forgot over Summer.
- NOV. —Richard Schmidt began running after the Senior girls.
- DEC. —Tried to bring our marks up (Christmas is coming).
- FEB. —Vacation fine—exams "not so hot!"

SOPHOMORES 1935

- FEB. —Sophomores!!! What a relief not to be called Freshmen any more by the Seniors.
- MARCH —Got used to Miss Roys's daily tests.
- APRIL —Three-quarters of class went to their grandmother's funeral. (Bears open baseball season).
- MAY —An epidemic of Spring Fever.
- JUNE —As usual, exams—boy! Were they stiff!! Planning vacation.
- SEPT. —Back from vacation. Class organized. Peter Knott elected president.
- OCT. —"Gaul as a whole is divided into three parts"—Caesar getting tougher. Galloping through "Ivanhoe."
- NOV. —Thanksgiving vacation. Some took an extra week off to recuperate.
- DEC. —Class gave program—only 2A's allowed. Also started collecting dues.
- JAN. —Right! As usual!! Exams and then promotion.

JUNIORS 1936

- FEB. —Juniors!! "Big shots" now; went to assembly with Seniors! Gladys Cicchino elected class president.
- MARCH —Dance class started. Got enough nerve to go to 4A dances.
- APRIL —The sea is rough—I mean the subjects are tough!!!
- MAY —Began spending our lunch periods in the park.
- JUNE —Class (?) went out to Oakdale in Orange Mountains.
- SEPT. —Returned all sun-tanned from our vacation.
- OCT. —Stahnten chosen president, Nunziant the Treasurer; gave his famous long treasury reports.

Class Log

- NOV. —Held two one-act plays—"The Obstinate Family" and "Bardell vs. Pickwick"—big success.
- DEC. —Studied the whole Christmas vacation for coming exams. We want to be Seniors.
- JAN. —Just before exams, Kapsky turned Communistic.

SENIORS 1937

Joe Spicer: "Mrs. Okin just told me the prices."

OCT. 29—Hallowe'en Dance—Pomianek won door prize. Mr. McCracken put salt in the punch.

Nov. 19—4A play "Peg O' My Heart." What a hit!

DEC. —Wondering how we got our psychology essay finished.

JAN. —Graduation!!! The night we are waiting for! Feeling sorry we have to leave.

Class Prophecy

"Belay there, you swabs, Avast there!
Do you think you're on a date?
This is Captain Freeman talking
And we're already late.

"You know right well we're sailing
Far out beyond the blue;
To start us on our journey
Is entirely up to you."

Our group was out to journey
Across the wide, wide sea
To celebrate the anniversary
Of the class we used to be.

"Haul up the plank, you sea-splashers,
You're looking kind of dead;
Come on there, Mister Mulhall—
Do you think you're made of lead?"

"Hustle up and use your head,
Sigmunt, Joe, and Paul,
Or we will never sail around
To our first port of call."

Back to work they all went,
Much running to and fro
And every little while Cap'n sent Amerino down below.

While setting sail directly east,
We bumped into one Irene Wiest;
No longer she commands, "Come here,"
But instead she says, "Yes, darling, what is it, dear?"

The members of this jolly crew
Were quite a cheerful lot;
When they were given a task to do,
Most of them forgot.

Steward Engel tried hard to please
But no reward did he receive,
For Richard Tittel in a moment of jest
Tripped the steward and sent him west.

Emil Ozimek can be seen
The crow's nest perched atop;
He tried so hard success to find
That's how he reached the top.

Class Prophecy

Shipmates Huber, Karch, and Hellwig
Have one thought in mind—
To prove that many a sailor may
A girl in each port find.

A sailor named Truszkowski
Was swabbing off the deck;
He scrubbed until the deck shone
And there was not a speck.

Along came Felix Zelinsky,
Our foremost engineer,
He spilled some oil upon the deck
And scurried here and there.

While down below within the ship,
Much to our surprise,
Stokers Pomianek, Snigel, and Schmidt
We found in odd disguise.

These boys as stokers on our ship
Were playing with the coal;
It represented their football
With the furnaces as their goal.

A dance was held on board that night
For the class of '38—
All the former students were there
To learn each other's fate.

Lahey and Ebner wore trailing gowns
That helped to clean the floor;
Kapsky and Nunziant came with frowns—
To them 'twas all a bore.

All in all, the affair was good;
We all enjoyed the night;
We danced and we enjoyed ourselves,
And all were smiling bright.

At our first port of call we met
A politician you all know:
Mauro Fisher was his name,
Oh, my, could his tongue go!

Here he lived with Johanna
His lovely little bride;
She loved her politician husband
And was forever at his side.

Class Prophecy

On this isle lives Gladys Cicchino
A charming friend to find;
To write an interesting novel
Is the one thought in her mind.

We thought we saw Ferrao
At work in a garage,
But to our disappointment
It was only a mirage.

Before we sailed from this gay isle,
Mayor Kane stood at his door,
And bade us stay in his quaint style;
So we regretted departure more.

Our journey was through
And for home we did start,
With a tear in our eye
And an ache in our heart.

The renewal of friendship on this trip
And acquaintances which we made,
And the memory of our sturdy ship
From our minds will never fade.

Each did his part, whether small or great,
Through peace and calm, storms and strife,
To bring home safe our Ship of State
To win their battle, the battle of Life.

Chatter

Professor Knottymuscle Discusses Idlemania.

Idlemania is a very contagious disease. It is dreaded mostly by teachers and employers. The victims are invariably Seniors and Post-Graduates. Idlemania becomes more inevitable as time goes by. Those who have this contamination should consult their physicians immediately.

The symptoms consist of restlessness and an involuntary twitching of the muscles. The more serious cases complain of an abhorrence to acquiring knowledge; resent diligence, and despise all mental exertions. The victims are habitually unconcerned about their associates. Hard work is a very adequate and reliable inoculation for Idlemania. To those fortunate immune individuals, this infection can be very irritating.

Once apprehended by this contagion, the victim can be assured of no explicit cure. Strict discipline and rigid obedience will, however, help to impede this pollution.

CHARLES HELLWIG.

Senior Athletes

CASIMER POMIANEK

With the graduation of Casimer, East Side will lose one of the best football players that ever attended the school. Casimer has been an outstanding athlete in our school for four years. In his first three years on the football team he was one of the best linemen in the city. This year Casimer was changed from a lineman to a fullback, where he became one of the best in the state. Casimer was also a star on our baseball team. He earned eight varsity letters in four years and was mentioned for All City Honors.

HERMAN ENGEL

Herman, besides being the most popular boy of our class, became also our star miler. On the track his last minute spurts were something worth watching. He participated in interclass basketball and showed himself a better-than-average player. Herman is known as "Murph" to his fellow-classmates.

LESTER PRICE

Lester turned his efforts to a national sport, baseball. He played outfield and received more than his share of hits. Last season he was chosen the most valuable player on the team. As a basketball player, he rated as one of our best interclass stars.

MARTIN TAUB

Marty turned out for football in his senior year and so impressed the coach by his ability that he became a varsity player. He played halfback, and many times thrilled us with his left-handed passes. Marty was also a member of our interclass basketball team.

STEVE MIKULICKA

Steve was a versatile player on our football team and was a varsity man for two years. He played end, but this season was shifted to tackle. Steve, who is also a member of the interclass basketball team, belongs to the swimming team.

On the gridiron, those who also helped to further the name of our school were Anthony Ferrao, Stanley Snigel, Alfred Schmeltz, and Robert Kuehl.

We must not forget the efforts of Joseph Kuczko, Alois Klein, Emil Ozimek, and Robert Stahnten. These young men brought glory to our Alma Mater on the cinder track.

Bernard Huber, Stanley Gutkowski, Richard Schmidt, and Felix Zelinsky are also included in this group of fine athletes. Bernard received a letter as a result of fine pitching on the baseball team. Stanley played outfield and did splendid work. Richard and Felix were junior varsity baseball players.

Our Alma Mater will miss these worthy, outstanding athletes, and we wish with all sincerity that in the future, they will continue their victories in whatever they undertake.

The Graduates' Bouquet

In parting as we go our ways,
We leave these flowers to cheer your days,
In years to come we hope to be Forever in your memory.

MR. RALSTON

Goldenrod

Encouragement

A goldenrod we leave to you,
Our loyal friend, our guide so true.
With thanks for all encouragement
Your kindly words to us have sent.

MISS ERBACHER

Snowdrop

Friendship

A snowdrop means a friend in need,
To us you've been a friend, indeed.
In gratefulness, we leave with you
A tiny blossom, white and true.

MISS WAGONER

Violet

Modesty

To Miss Wagoner, who has done so much
To help our class in plays and such,
Our only wish is when we part,
You'll keep us tucked within your heart.

MR. McCracken

Jasmine

Amiability

We offer you a jasmine sweet,
Expressing all our thoughts complete.
In days gone by, in days to be
A tribute to your memory.

MR. MUSGROVE

Rose

Love

Forevermore our hearts will be
With you whose face we love to see.
To our ideal we leave a rose,
We hope you know why we so chose.

MR. STONE

Ivy

Trustfulness

A guide to us for four short years,
The thought of parting brings out tears,
But thoughts of trustfulness in him
Will stay with us and never dim.

MISS WITTMEIER

Lily

Purity of Heart

Parting causes such sweet pain,
For you all words would be in vain;
We dedicate this bloom to you,
And hope your hardships will be few.

To all the rest who've helped us too
And guided us our hardships through,
We leave with you our thanks sincere;
Your kindness will our future cheer.

GLADYS CICCHINO
DORIS EBNER

The Embarkation

Now the "S. S. East Side" hauls anchor and sets sail for the Sea of Opportunity, and the cheery crew crowds the deck to catch a last glimpse of the wharves of Preparation. The decks fairly shake with the laughter and jollity of the weather-beaten, adventuresome sailors. Then, as we solemnly take our places on the ship's forecastle and in its hold, we see the difficulty of adapting ourselves to the ways of the seas of the Business World. We must now heave and strain with the winds of Competition and take up the duties of Responsibility. Though we long to see the new, we cannot but look back upon the old as something which is a part of our being. We fear that the time spent upon learning each tide and channel of the harbor has left us ignorant of the ropes and topsails of our ship, of the storms and calms of the waters of the Industrial World. Upon the now almost deserted pier, stand Captain Ralston and his trusty officers, McCracken and Wagoner, waving one last fond farewell! Though we are engulfed with the waves of the Business World, we cannot but keep that soft place in our memory for the friendships and jollity that we enjoyed on the dock of Instruction and Education.

FRANCIS NUNZIANI.

Farewell

*The Time is drawing near, dear friend,
When we'll be leaving you,
We cannot bear the dream to end—
A friendship which is true.*

*You took us to your troubled breast,
You drew us to your heart,
We found with you, ah, blessed rest,
But now, we all must part.*

*Farewell, dear school of red and white,
For you, we'll always long,
The years will not erase your sight,
Nor heart forget your song.*

HELEN DONOCH.

FINE QUALITY PRINTING is nowhere so essential as in school and college annuals. The story told by copy is worthless unless the printed pages provide eloquent testimony of its truthful reproduction of campus life.

- Production of distinctive printing depends upon the masterful handling of such technicalities as layout, artwork, make-ready, and presswork, and also upon the selection of proper ink, paper and binding.
- Consistently good printing has made the Colyer organization the first and last choice of the leading schools and colleges.
